Interested in learning more about a different health care system or how culture plays a role in sport and exercise?

Study abroad exposes you to the social and cultural context of health, health care, and exercise science. This exposure can help you gain a greater understanding of how people's cultural or social background impacts their perspectives on health and well-being. ISA offers a range of programs with global health courses, allowing you to learn more both in and beyond the classroom.

If you need help finding specific courses that you need to take abroad, visit studiesabroad.com/course-finder and our expert advisors will be in touch with you with some program options!

GET HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE ABROAD

An international internship through ISA can help you stand out in the increasingly competitive job market. Available for a variety of majors, we offer full-time internships (in-person or online!) or add a part-time internship alongside your courses.

Discover internship opportunities available by visiting studiesabroad.com/internships.
